NEW WEED SEWING MACHINE
THE LAST AND BEST.

THE New Weed Sewing Machine
Company have at last completed their Three Standard Styles of Weed Sewing Machines.

First—Their New "Family Favorite." Second—Their New, Light and Noiseless Manufacturing Sewing Machine. Thirdly—Their immense heavy "Manufacturers' Favorite." All three together combining the advantages of all the others up to the present time, being the BEST made and doing the best work—has received throughout Europe, the States, and upon this Coast, the at each and every public Fair since 1867 (the year it was completed), where any premium at all has been given or where its strong points have been really exhibited.

First and Highest Premium

There is a difference!—All the premiums that the WEED Sewing Machine Company claim, from the

First and Highest Premium at the Great World's Fair at Paris, 1867
Up to the present time, (see small circulars) are each and every one GENUINE Awards, or we will forfeit $500 for each, and every false claim! Other Sewing Machines have had their Premiums but how many of them in the last two years? There is a difference! says the "Free Chronicle." "This magnificent Sewing Machine comes forward in good time, and strikes exactly the right mark." Also, the editor of the "Independent" says, "Such a Sewing Machine as the WEED—the New F. P.—we have never seen." Thus the New WEED Sewing Machine is the

SIMPLEST AND STRONGEST,

the Last, and as we believe in modern improvement we may add, the BEST Sewing Machine made as yet. It is the best Family Sewing Machine; it is the best Foot, Tailor's, Saddler's Sewing Machine; it is the most successful Sewing Machine! For already its name is a household word in both Europe and America, and is rapidly taking the place of all others. Its immense central Manufactory is in Hartford, Connecticut.

Tennyson's Songs.

[The following songs, from "The Wind-dow, or the Songs of the Wrens," by Alfred Tennyson, will be pronounced by all who read them exquisitely beautiful.]

I
Vine, vine, and eggplant,
Clasp her window, trail and twine!
Rose, rose, and clematis,
Trail and twine and clasp and kiss,
Kiss, kiss; and make her a bower
All of flowers, and drop me a flower,
Drop me a flower.

II
Where is another sweet as my sweet,
Fine of the fine, and shy of the shy?
Fine little hands, fine little feet,
Dewy blue eye.
Shall I write to her? shall I go?
Ask her to marry me by and by?
Somebody said that she'd say no,
Somebody knows that she'll say yes!

III
Sun comes, moon comes,
Time slips away,
Sun sets, moon sets,
Love, fix a day.
"A year hence, a year hence,"
"We shall both be gray!"
"A month hence, a month hence,"
"Far, far away!"
"A week hence, a week hence,"
"Ah, the long delay!"
"Wait a little, wait a little,"
"You shall fix a day!"
"To-morrow, love, to-morrow,"
"And that's an age away!"
Blaze upon her window, sun,
And honor all the day!

MARKED FOR THE KNIFE.

About two years before the startling revelations respecting the dissecting trade in Edinburg had placed the legal supply of "subjects" upon its present satisfactory footing, there occurred to my brother, at that time a delicate boy of about 14, a singular adventure, involving such a shock to his nerves as, the doctors believed, very much hastened his death, which occurred in less than a year after it.

We then resided in a large white house, with a row of poplars in front, close to one of our canals. Within a stone's throw of our hall door was a lock, and a lock-house, and then followed, in the London direction, one of the longest and most solitary levels to be met with in the United Kingdom.

The canal, at a point about 70 yards from the lock, makes a slight deflection. The consequence is, that neither the lock nor our house is visible from the long, straight level that follows, and which is closely fenced between tall hedges and old trees.

My brother had been ordered walking exercise, and my father generally appointed the path beside the level I have described for his walk. The traffic, never very active, was, at that time, in a state little better than extinct. Not more than three or four boats passed in a day, and chiefly, owing to its perfect quietude, it had been chosen as the walk for our solitary invalid.

It was now Summer, and the heat of his daily walk was from five to seven; the earlier hours of the afternoon being pronounced too hot for exercise.

On the evening in question he set out alone. His usual walk was to a point two miles up the level, where there was a stone block, on which he used to sit and rest a little while before setting out for home.

While he was taking his ease on this stone bench, and listlessly looking up and down the long and deserted reach of water, there emerged, a few hundred yards to his left, from a sequestered path, a singular figure, which approached slowly, and passed him by, with only the narrow tow-path between them. It was moving in the direction of our home, and was that of an emaciated man, with a complexion dark as very old boxwood, limping, as it seemed, painfully, very much stooped, and with a big angular hump upon his back. His hair was long and sooty black; he had prominent dark eyes, under thick black brows, and his face and chin were stubbled with a week's growth of beard. He was leaning heavily on a long stick, and walked with a kind of hitch, which resembled a spasm, and gave one the idea that each step was accompanied by a separate sting of pain.

The face of this man expressed extreme weakness and suffering, and might almost be that of a man dragging himself away, with a mortal wound, to some spot where he might lie down and die in quiet. He had a long and heavy bottle-green coat, which had grown to be, indeed, a coat of many colors; for over the threadbare and greasy ground it was overlaid with fantastic and extraordinary industry with a tessellation of patches, of every imaginable color, in which yellow, and red, and blue, and black, were discernible, under a varnish of grease, and toned with a variety of dirt; and even these patches were patched again, and had broken here, and there into rents and fissures, and bunches of shreds and tatters. Around his body was buckled a broad discolored leathern strap, and he wore a wide-leaved felt hat, with a rather conical crown, brown and grimed by time and ill treatment.

This figure, with long gaiters of rabbit-skin, and shapeless "brogues," humped past my brother, without taking the slightest notice of him; and uttering now and then a short groan, as if of suppressed pain, he excited the wonder, and, in some degree, the compassion of the boy.

He watched the progress of this man, who was moving with great difficulty and with many halts, in the direction of our home. It was not until he got on nearly a quarter of a mile that my brother got up, now quite rested, to follow in the same direction.

As this strange, crooked man with the stick got on, he appeared to grow more and more exhausted, and at length he tottered into a little recess at the edge of the path, and fell helplessly on his side among the bushes.

The boy quickened his pace, and as he approached the spot he passed the head of a narrow lane, in which he saw a donkey and cart standing. The cart had in it, upon some straw, a piece of old carpet, from under which emerged some folds of coarse canvas, like a part of an old sack; but he could not see any one in charge of this conveyance, though being anxious to obtain help, he called repeatedly.

Despairing of succor, he went on, and reached the point where he had seen the man fall. Here he found him. He had crept a little further in among the bushes. He was supporting himself feebly on the ground upon his elbow, his eyes turned up as if he were on the point of swooning, and he moaned faintly.

The boy's courage almost failed him; but the sick man seemed to perceive him, turned his eyes upon him imploringly, and extending his hand toward him, so evidently signaled for aid that my brother could not help drawing near.

The fainting man then told him, in a whisper, that if he would take his hand, and draw him gently toward him, he would, perhaps, be able to turn himself a little, to his great relief.

My brother did give him his hand, accordingly, and the fainting man, instead of taking it, seized his arm above the elbow, with a gigantic hand, in a gripe like a vice, and jerking him under, sprang over him, so as to pinion him fast. He had carried in his hand the end of the belt which he had removed from around his own body while waiting for his prey, and with a dexterity acquired, no doubt, by long practice, in a moment, with the now disengaged hand, he drew it around the boy's arms and body at a single jerk, with a pressure so powerful that he could scarcely breathe, much less disengage his arms.

In another moment, with his knee on the boy's chest, and one broad hand placed right across his mouth so as to stifle his screams effectually, he hitched round what had seemed to be his hump, but what proved to be, in fact, a bundle from which, with the other hand, he took out, with the quickness and neatness of a skilled manipulator, two things: one a sort of cushion about eight inches square, covered with chamois leather—I have heard, no doubt, intended to aid in the process of suffocation, still in my possession; the other was the renowned pitch plaster.

My brother had no idea what he intended doing, for the disclosure in Edinburg had not yet enlightened and terrified people of all ages throughout England.

The miscreant kept his face close to his victim's, with his powerful eyes fixed on his. His dark, lean features and long beak, and the thick hair that hung forward like a sooty plumage round them, and the long sinewy neck that arched over my poor brother, as he lay at his assailant's mercy, gave him, in the fascinated gaze of the boy, the appearance of a monstrous bird of prey.

I dare say this ghoul had an actual power, such as many men are said to possess, of controlling the springs of action, mental and bodily, by some occult power of the eye. To my brother it seemed that it needed a perpetual and desperate struggle of will to prevent a frightful trance from stealing over him.

For a moment the wretch's hand was slightly raised from the boy's mouth. He intended, no doubt, at this instant, to introduce the pitch plaster, which was to stop both mouth and nostrils. But my brother, now struggling frantically, uttered two piercing yells, which compelled the murderer to replace his hand before he had accomplished his purpose. He was evidently now transported with fury. Up to this he had been operating as methodically as a spider. He looked so fiendish that my brother fancied he would cut his throat; or otherwise dispatch him at the moment.

His plans, however, were different. He had no idea of losing sight of his interests, much less of his safety. No principle of his nefarious trade was better established than the absolute necessity of leaving no trace of actual violence upon the persons of his victims. Even the knee with which he held his prey was padded so carefully that the young boy's breast did not exhibit the slightest contusion, although so long under a pressure which held him at the verge of suffocation.

Rapidly, and with more success, the villain again essayed his final sleight. One dreadful yell escaped, and the deadly pitch plaster was fixed on mouth and nose, and another sound or respiration become impossible.

The leathery bushes above and about him, the figure, the face of the spectre, began to swim before his eyes. He saw the man, still on his knees, rise with a start and pause, with eyes askant, and his dark hand to his ear. In the next instant he had disappeared.

In his struggle the boy now rolled from the lair in which he had been attacked into the clear light upon the open path, where he lay perfectly insensible.

When consciousness returned, which was not for some minutes, three men were about him, drenching his head with water, and all endeavoring to extract a word of explanation; but for long after he could not speak a syllable, nor, for some time, even hear distinctly what they said.

Not a moment was lost, so soon as he was able to describe what had happened, in directing pursuit, wherever any results were the least likely. All my brother could say as to the point toward which the assassin directed his flight was that, as his sight failed, he thought, though very indistinctly, that he saw him pass away obliquely, in the direction of the lane in which he had observed the donkey cart.

It must have belonged to an accomplice, who was there by arrangement. Everything had been prepared to carry away the body of the poor fellow, which would have been secured in the sack, enveloped in the carpet, and covered with straw, and thus secreted in some lonely lock-up yard, until, at dead of night, it would have been conveyed to the dissecting room. The boy's hat thrown upon the water would have turned inquiry off the scent, and induced delay.

The strap, still buckled with cruel force about the poor fellow's arms and ribs, the chamois cushion I have mentioned, and the pitch plaster fixed over the lower part of his face, were the only "properties" of the villain left to indicate his visit.

The cool old assassin had carried off every other trace of his presence, and he and his comrade, taking the donkey cart with them, had decamped with a celerity, and managed their disguise with an art which, as matters then were, and with a full hour's start, had baffled pursuit.

No doubt, with the police force now at our command, the result might have been different. As it was, no clue whatever was discovered; and this was marvelous, considering the marked peculiarities of dress and of person that belonged to the culprit. The persons best acquainted with the ways of our criminals at that period were of opinion that the strange details of the dress, the gait, the hair, the complexion, and the distortion of the figure, were parts of an elaborate piece of masquerade.

There was some controversy as to the object of the projected crime. It was not until the terrific exposure at Edinburg had made all the world horribly familiar with the machinery of that peculiar species of murder that all debate upon the matter ceased, and the pitch plaster was accepted as conclusive evidence that the body was intended for sale to the surgeons.

No doubt these poachers on a great scale were thoroughly skilled in all the finesse and strategy of their contraband art. The regularity of my poor brother's walk, its favorable hour, and the suggestion of drowning as the cause of his disappearance, had all been noted, and the enterprise was, as I have told you, very nearly accomplished, when an interruption saved him.

My brother was ailing at the time this dreadful attempt was made upon his life. He survived it little more than ten months, and the able physician who attended him referred his death to the awful shock which his system had received.

THE WANDERING JEW.—A curious rumor comes from an obscure village in the neighborhood of Antwerp, that the strange, sad, weary figure of the Wandering Jew has appeared in its vicinity. It passed swiftly through the market place, carrying its historical staff in its hand, with the old Roman costume, worn and dingy, draped about it, bareheaded, and with its long beard streaming in the wind. Adults fled from it in affright, but some children followed the figure to the outskirts of the village, where it paused and addressed a few words to them. It told them to go back and tell the people that a new ruler had arisen in Europe, who would bring Belgium, Holland, and other powers under his rule; that the present year would witness many vicissitudes among the people, and that many heads now loftily held will have fallen before its close. Upon being questioned by the children as to his name, the mysterious stranger responded: "Seek not to know. I have been here before in the past. I shall be here in the future. Until the end of time, shall I walk the earth unceasingly." Then the figure waved its hand, turned from them and took up its plodding way, gradually disappearing from their sight. This singular event has created much excitement in the neighborhood in which it is said to have occurred, and the sensation caused by the rumors of the appearance of this mysterious personage has spread to Antwerp and other cities of Belgium. The Wandering Jew was last seen in Brussels in 1774. Previously to that he had been seen at Strasbourg in 1380, and later in 1380. In some quarters there is a belief that this person who lately appeared in Belgium is an imposter, but the accounts that are given of the sad expression of his countenance, the dignity of his bearing, and the almost supernatural expression of his eye, forbade the supposition in the minds of those who witnessed his sudden appearance in their midst that he was other than the strange mystery of the ages—doomed for contumely to our Saviour to abide on until He shall come again—the Wandering Jew.

DEGRADATION OF SWEARING.—It is no mark of a gentleman to swear. The most worthless and vile, the refuse of mankind, the drunkard and the prostitute, swear, as well as the best dressed and educated gentlemen. No particular endowments are required to give a finish to the art of cursing. The basest and meanest of mankind swear with as much tact and skill as the most refined; and he who degrades himself to the lowest level of pollution and shame, learns to be a common swearer. Any man has talent enough to curse God, and imprecate perdition on himself and fellow men. Profane swearing never did any good. No man is richer, or wiser, or happier for it. It helps no one's education or manners. It commends no one to any society. It is disgusting to the refined—abominable to the good, degrading to the mind; unprofitable, needless and injurious to society.

HUMBLENESS EXALTED.—I observe that God hath chosen the vine, a low plant that creeps upon the helpless wall; of all beasts, the soft and patient lamb; of all birds, the mild and guileless dove. Christ is the rose of the field and the lily of the valley. When God appeared to Moses, it was not in the lofty cedar, nor the sturdy oak, nor the spreading palm, but in a bush, an humble, slender, abject bush: as if He would by these selections check the conceited arrogance of man.—Beltham.

[COMMUNICATED]

Buchanan, February 8, 1870.

ED. EXPOSITOR:—As I informed you in my last, everything in this burg was "couleur de rose"—every one big with expectations, but alas! for human hopes and calculations; everything was working like a charm, the water was two-thirds out of the mine, when, in the middle of the afternoon of the 23rd ult., the boss uttered the fatal words, "stop work!" All hands accordingly knocked off—accounts were made out, and a general settlement was the result, the boss has departed for parts unknown, and matters stand in "statu quo."

Now, sir, this has been a sad blow to the calculations of some of the leading spirits hereabouts. The new town yeelp Brownsville is destined to remain on paper, and great is the dismay thereat. Marius sitting amid the ruins of Carthage is supposed to have worn a cheerful countenance in comparison with the "phiz" of the projector and future proprietor of Brownsville when the dire news was made known to him.

Various are the conjectures as to the cause of the sudden stoppage of work after the object had been so nearly attained, but the real cause is as yet unknown. I don't think it's true, but its whispered to me that some one told the boss that the great sea serpent was in the waters below, and hence the sudden cessation of labor. However, yesterday, the mine changed hands, and the supposition is that parties will undertake to work it fully prepared to do battle with the aforementioned monster if necessary. In the meantime our worthy Superintendent still wears a smiling countenance and a stiff upper lip, and offers his services as one fully versed in all matters appertaining to the sea and its inhabitants.

The citizens here unite with me in tendering you thanks for your advocacy of the new stage line to include Buchanan.

Yours respectfully,
OBSERVER.

The exhibit of facts and figures herewith presented, furnish substantial proof that prosperity and reform have marked the history of our Public Schools during the last year.

Our school commenced this with an unusual interest in every part of the county. On December 7th, 1870, I caused the teachers of the county to convene in Centerville for the purpose of organizing a Teachers' Institute, to which every teacher in the county promptly responded. After organization the Institute remained in session three days. Our labors were crowned with progressive and eminent success.

I have no hesitancy in saying advisedly that we can run our schools this year eight months on an average, therefore the County Superintendent will not be under the legal necessity of reporting to the Honorable Board of Supervisors on or before the 1st of March, as required in Sec. 98 of the Revised School Law. This pleasurable and flourishing condition of the Public School system of our county, gentlemen, is truly and unmistakably owing to the timely action and financial ability of your honorable body, in meeting the demands of the law, and the all absorbing interest of the youth of our county at the right time; for which you have the assurance of their highest regard, through their legal representative. Also the unmistakable plaudits of their parents and representatives in common.

The number of census children for the present school year between the ages of 5 and 15 years of age. 727
Number of boys. 374
" " girls. 353
" " children under 5. 464

The January apportionment of County School Funds for 1871, is $9,000, making a prorata, per census child of $12 37.

This, together with the State apportionments, and subsequent county apportionments, arising from delinquent taxes, will I think, about meet the demands of the Revised School Law. Therefore, gentlemen, I would very respectfully suggest the propriety of letting the school tax remain as it is for the present year, that we may have time and reasonable opportunity to test the competency of the present tax.

All of which, gentlemen, is very respectfully submitted for your reasonable consideration. Very respectfully,
S. H. HILL,
County Supt. Common Schools.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

I. O. O. F.—On last Monday night Fresno Lodge No. 186, I. O. O. F., was instituted at this place, by M. W. G. M., C. W. Daniels, assisted by M. W. G. W., A. C. Bradford, P. G. George, and Bros. A. J. Atwell, E. F. Warner, J. B. O'Connor, G. F. Pennebaker, J. D. Hyde, and G. Boukowsky, of Four Creeks Lodge, Visalia, and Bro. R. H. Ward of Willow Lodge. The following gentlemen were duly installed officers for the present term: N. G. F. Friedman, V. G. J. W. Ferguson, R. S. Frank Dusy, Treas., W. M. Coolidge, P. G. A. C. Bradford, Conductor, Harry Dixon, Warden, J. E. Sherrard, Per. Sec., Wm. Faymonville, I. G. M. Donahoe, O. G., H. C. Daulton, R. S. to the N. G., J. H. Peters, L. S. to the N. G., J. N. Walker, R. S. to the V. G., Wm. Krug, L. S. to the V. G., P. B. Donahoe, R. S. S. W. Hill, L. S. S. Jos. Griggs. After the ceremonies of instituting the lodge were over, the members of Fresno Lodge and their guests adjourned to Henry's hotel and partook of a refreshing repast. Thus has another link been formed in the great chain which binds together this grand brotherhood—bound together, for the purpose of visiting the sick, relieving the distressed, burying the dead and educating the orphan, by the strong ties of universal love. This is the first lodge of the order ever instituted in this county, and we are certain that the noble precepts taught by its laws and usages will have a beneficial effect upon the entire community. The night of meeting has been fixed for Monday. The Grand Master returned to San Francisco on Tuesday last, by way of Visalia, visiting Four Creeks Lodge tonight.

MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIFE.—On last Monday a marriage in high life took place in the celestial portion of Millerton. The bride was the beautiful and accomplished Miss Cui Yow, a half breed China girl, aged about seventeen years, and a native of Fresno county. The young lady was a member of one of the F. F. C. The groom, Mr. Ah Sun, is a high-toned curly-combed slinger of Chinese extraction. The bride was given away by Judge C. A. Hart and the groom by Mr. J. N. Walker. It was a grand affair.

JUSTICE'S COURT 2D TOWNSHIP.—The case of Wm. Helm vs. E. Miles, brought to recover the sum of $300 for an alleged trespass on the part of the defendant in herding sheep on plaintiff's land, situated on the San Joaquin river, was tried on Saturday, February 11th, in the above court before Justice Rumble. The jury impaneled to try the case, after hearing the evidence and the law in relation to trespass, brought in a verdict of $25 damages for plaintiff.

RAILROAD MORTGAGE.—A mortgage was filed in the Recorder's Office, on last Friday by the Southern Pacific Railroad for the sum of $8,000,000, in favor of W. C. Ralston and others. The mortgage is held on the rolling stock, roadbed, rights, privileges and franchises. The company propose to commence work on the Gilroy end of their road on the first of next month, but whether on the coast branch or on the branch through Panache Pass we have been unable to learn.

AVERAN RANJEL the Mexican sent from the Justice Court of the 2d Township and confined in the County Jail, was released from custody on Monday, Feb. 13, having given the required bail, $500, for his appearance before the Grand Jury on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

RAIN.—A very acceptable rain visited this section on Thursday and Friday of last week, refreshing the grass and giving everything a cheerful look. On Monday night another and a heavier storm of rain fell.

We learn that an examination will take place at the upper school house, Big Dry Creek, on next Friday, during the day and evening, the occasion being the closing of Winter Term of the school. A new term will be commenced immediately.

From a report of the cost of railways in different States, it appears that 5,056 miles of completed and opened railway in Pennsylvania cost $296,739,037, while 5,428 miles in Illinois cost but $237,553,000.

FLOOR.—We direct public attention to the advertisement of the Centerville Mills. The proprietors, being thoroughly conversant with their business, are prepared to manufacture the best of flour.

JURIES DRAWN.—Hon. Gillum Bailey, County Judge, on Friday last, ordered a venire for thirty-two Grand and thirty-six Trial Jurors for the March Term of the County Court.

We are compelled to omit our editorial matter in order to make room for local matter of interest to every citizen of the county, namely, the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors.

We are under many obligations to Mr. T. J. Payne for some nice oranges and apples. He has just got up a lot of delicious fruit. Go buy some and try it.

GATHERING THEM IN.—We are pleased to learn that the Good Templars are steadily gathering to their protective folds, the citizens of this section.

PAYNE has been fixing the road in front of the Court House, for which he deserves thanks.

The indications as we go to press are favorable for more rain. We hope that it will come down generously.

THE BALL.—The dancing public should not forget the ball at Centerville on next Wednesday evening.

THE disguised drama, falsely called medicines, sold in barrooms as "tonics" and "stomachics," have nothing in common with Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters. That famous invigorant does not owe its stimulating qualities to fiery and adulterated Alcohol, but to medicinal roots and herbs never heretofore combined. The effect of the Bitters in cases of constitutional debility, chronic indigestion, liver complaint, and all diseases tending to consumption, is so marvelous that except to those who have felt or witnessed it, the result seems incredible.

FRANCE, says the Reporter, sinned deeply in making an attack upon Prussia, but terribly she expiated her offenses. The great mistake of the French people after the battle of Sedan and the proclamation of the French Republic, was in continuing to prosecute a war commenced without provocation by the Emperor in the interest of imperialism. By continuing the war they made themselves parties to and sponsors for the crimes of Napoleon and no logic can make it appear otherwise.

THE HOME GAZETTE.—This elegant household vaper for January comes to our table, attired in a neat and handsome dress, which for beauty and simplicity surpasses anything we have seen of late, also its pages are filled to the brim with so many good things that we have not the space to enumerate them. It is published at the low price of 75 cents a year, by Gould & Anthony, Fishkill-on-Hudson, New York.

A NEW YORKER has a dog which he has named Peanuts, on account of the thinness of his bark.

In Brazil there is said to be a law to compel men to vote.

A BARREL of Alvarado beet sugar has been sent to President Grant. Now, if some one will send a few gallons of California brandy and a "spoon to stir it round," the great man of the White House will have a jolly time in honor of the productions of our State.

In a Texas city the chief of police is under arrest for robbery.

THE Board of Supervisors adjourned on Saturday.

WHEELER & WILSON
THE GREAT TRIAL OF SEWING MACHINES.

THE GRANDEST IN THE WORLD.

The Judges, the whole world; and the trial fifteen years duration.

PRACTICAL USE THE TEST!

THE UNIVERSAL VERDICT:
"THE WHEELER & WILSON SEWING MACHINE THE CHAMPION!"

AS A HOLIDAY PRESENT NOTHING WOULD BE MORE APPRECIATED THAN ONE OF THESE MACHINES

THESE UNEQUALLED MACHINES DO ALL the different work required to be done in a family, and make all the different kinds of Stitches without the complications of other machines.

All persons will please examine the WHEELER & WILSON'S Sewing Machines before purchasing any other.

The Wheeler & Wilson as is well known, has won at nearly every trial in which it has competed the highest award of merit. The representatives of other machines, ever confident, have entered the lists, time and again, only to be defeated; and finding it impossible to compete fairly, have endeavored to decry the value of premiums. They are not slow, however, to boast of a few they have received. But in the grand trial, daily use throughout the world, where only true merit finds favor, and superiority wins the race, the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine stands triumphantly the Champion by the verdict of the people.

THESE MACHINES ARE ADAPTED TO EVERY VARIETY OF SEWING!

From the lightest muslins to the heaviest cloths. They work equally well upon Silk, Linen, Woolen or Cotton goods, with Silk, Linen or Cotton thread. Seaming, Quilting, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Cording, Tucking, Binding, Embroidering and making Button Holes, with the greatest facility.

If the inconvenient for the purchaser to visit the salesroom, the order may be forwarded to the office, and it will be faithfully filled as if the selection had been made personally.

Full instructions, recently compiled, and giving information upon every point in detail, accompany each machine, and enable the most inexperienced to operate without difficulty.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD!

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from cures, many of which are truly marvellous. In various cases of scrofulous disease, the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous eruptions and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

WHAT MAKES A MAN.

A truthful soul, a loving mind,
A spirit firm, erect and free,
That never basely bends the knee;
That will not bear a feather's weight
Of slavery's chain for small or great;
That truly speaks from God within;
That never makes a league with sin;
That snags the fetters despots make,
And loves the truth for his own sake,
That worships God, and him alone,
And bows no more than at his throne;
And trembles at no tyrant's nod;
A soul that fears no one but God,
And thus can smile at curse or ban,
This is the soul that makes the man.

HOUSE, FARM AND GARDEN.

For covering strawberry beds, Purdy's Small Fruit Record recommends evergreen boughs placed on the rows, and next to these any kind of boughs or brush, with straw, stalks or sorghum bagasse, scattered through them.

A correspondent of a horticultural journal says almost all apples thrive on dwarf stocks, but he has found that some thrive better than others, among which are the Early Harvest, American Summer Pearmain, Summer Rose, Early Strawberry, Red Astrachan, Gravenstein, Porter, Summer Rambo, Duchess of Oldenburg, Maiden's Blush, Fall Harvey, Hubbardson's, Nonsuch and Fallwater.

The Gardener's Chronicle says that Dr. Poselger has shown by repeated experiments, that the growth of trees and shrubs is not interfered with by any quantity of coal gas that may escape into the soil. Ashes, coal dust, and the like, forming the best of manure.

A CORRESPONDENT of an Eastern paper says that he has used sulphur more than twenty years, with benefit, to prevent rot in grapes. Rot is not caused by a fungus as some suppose, but by an insect which punctures the grapes probably for the purpose of depositing its eggs. Upon this discovery is based the sulphur remedy for rot, as sulphur is distasteful to all the insect tribe. Fumigation in the evening is better than dust as the insects work at night.

TO KEEP OUT BORERS.—Mr. Reed, Perth Amboy, N. J., says that he keeps out borers by putting a little jacket of tarred roofing paper about the base of the tree. He digs the earth away from the crown, tins the top of a strip of this paper about the tree, and hauls earth up around the base of the paper and is not troubled with borers. He takes it off in the fall. Thus treated the borers have disappeared from the orchard altogether.—Rural New Yorker.

THE Country Gentleman says that the principal point in the successful culture of the lima bean is to get the seed well started. The best way of doing this is to plant in a hill of light earth, made so by sifting the soil, if it can be had in no other way. A shovelful of well rotted manure should go into each hill. The seed bean with the germ downward in the hill, he sifts the covering over it through a window sieve. Corn planting time is about the right time to plant lima beans. The after cultivation is the same as for the common pole bean.

RAMIE PLANT.—The Santa Clara Argus says: The Ramie Plant has been successfully cultivated at Hayward's Alameda county, by Messrs. Meek & Finch, who have established a nursery there. These gentlemen, we are informed, have already filled orders for thirty thousand cuttings, fifteen thousand of which were for various parts of California, and the remainder for the Sandwich Islands. The plant will flourish in soil suitable for the growth of corn, and its cultivation is attended with less labor even than that product. We are assured that in suitable soil, the plant will yield three crops of fibre per year, of from nine hundred to one thousand two hundred pounds each, in the crude state, worth in Europe from twenty-five to thirty-five cents per pound. This being true, there can be no doubt that its cultivation will richly reward those who embark in it.

ON SHORT COMMONS.—"My dear madam, can you give me a glass of grog?" asked a fatigued traveler in Arkansas, as he entered a cabin on the roadside.
"I ain't got a drop," replied the woman.
"But a gentleman told me you had a barrel."
"Why, good gracious!" replied the woman. "What do you reckon one barrel of whiskey is to me and my children when we are out of milk?"

THE Spanish Treasury is about to issue new obligations to the amount of fifty millions of dollars. The present debt of Spain is about twelve hundred millions, and the annual expenses of the Government one hundred and fifty millions about twice as much as the revenue. No other country in Europe is so bankrupt.

AT A christening, while the minister was making his certificate, he inquired the day of the month, and happened to say, "Let me see, this is the 30th." "The thirtieth!" exclaimed the indignant mother. "Indeed, but it is only the thirtieth!"

SIMPSON'S CONCRETE ROOF AND THE CATS.—Down in Tuckahoe, there is a man named Simpson, who has a flat roof on his house, covered with tin. The roof got a-leaking badly a few weeks ago, and it happened to occur to Simpson that it would be a good thing to cover the whole surface with the material out of which concrete pavements are made, "so as to make her all tight and nice," said Simpson. A man was accordingly engaged and he covered the tin with concrete to the depth of three or four inches. The curse of Tuckahoe is cats. In warm weather, millions of them assemble, and hold ratification meetings and rehearsals and general synods out in the back yards and on the roofs. In Tuckahoe, last July, the heat was unusually intense, and Mr. Simpson was exceedingly annoyed by the animated discussion of cats in the neighborhood. The more he "shooed" them and flung old boots at them, the worse they yelled. Night after night it continued to grow more terrific, and day after day Mrs. Simpson observed that the mysterious caterwauling continued during all the hours of daylight. Simpson hadn't a bootjack, or a blacking brush, or a rolling pin, or a cologne bottle left to throw at them.

At last one moonlight night the uproar got so outrageous that Simpson arose from his bed and determined to ascertain what in thunder all this growling meant anyhow! It appeared to him that the noise came from the top of the house. He went up into the garret and put his head out of the trap-door. There he found one hundred and ninety-six cats, stuck fast knee-deep in the concrete, which had been softened by the heat. Some of them had been there four days. The minute they caught sight of Simpson, the whole 196 doubled up their spines, ruffled their back hair, shook their tails, and gave one wild, unearthly howl, which shocked Simpson's nerves so much that he dropped the trap-door and fell down the step-ladder on the head of Mrs. Simpson, who was standing below, dressed in a thing with a frill on it, and armed with a palm-leaf fan and bed-slat determined to protect Simpson to the death. The next day the concrete was removed and the cats dug out. But you ought to have been present when Simpson interviewed the concrete man! There was only for rounds and then Simpson got up off the man's prostrate body in order to let him go and hunt some good hair restorative and put a fresh oyster on his eye.

THE LOST TRIBES OF ISRAEL.—The lost tribes of Israel, which have given so much concern to many worthy individuals, and which have been found everywhere, even among our own selves, have been in great danger of being discovered, scattered through the Pacific Ocean, and indulging in cannibal habits. The philological world of Berlin have been much disturbed by rubbings of inscriptions from that mysterious seat of colossal stone figures, Easter Island. These inscriptions, set out in good straight lines, look like the repetition of various alphabetical characters, bearing some of them a striking likeness to later Hebrew, but unhappily undecipherable. The important results to be obtained are, however, no longer in expectation, as Prof. Huley, has solved the inscriptions, which might long have puzzled the learned world. He has recognized the rubbings as impressions from moulds used by the Polynesians in printing the patterns on the tapa cloth, the ancient dress of the inhabitants of Tahiti and other Islands. This accounts for the geometrical and the regular production of details which are not ideographs, hieroglyphics, or alphabetical symbols.

"GO" AND "COME."—"If you want your business done," says the proverb, "go and do it; if you don't want it done, send some one else." An indolent gentleman had a freehold estate producing about five hundred a year. Becoming involved he sold half the estate, and let the rest to an industrious farmer for twenty years. About the end of the term the farmer called to pay his rent, and asked the owner whether he would sell his farm.

"Will you buy it?" asked the owner, surprised.
"Yes, if we can agree about the price."
"That is exceedingly strange," observed the gentleman; "pray tell me how it happens that while I could not live on twice as much land, for which I paid no rent, you are regularly paying me two hundred a year for your farm, and are able in a few years to purchase it."
"The reason is plain," was the reply; "you sat still and said, Go; I got up and said, Come. You laid in your bed and enjoyed your estate; I rose, in the morning and minded my business."

ONE of the transparencies carried in the German procession in Sacramento, a night or two ago, had on it the words: "Belknap to Grant—I believe Paris is about to capitulate." "Grant to Belknap—Then you had best stop selling arms." It was a heavy punch at the Republican party's hypocritical professions of sympathy with Prussia.

CLARK MILLS, the sculptor, is not a favorite with the critics, who are almost unanimous in the demand that Congress shall not give him any more jobs for the Government.

ARKANSAS, notwithstanding that her credit has been nearly ruined by maladministration of her affairs, is very rich in natural resources. This State contains some of the richest cotton lands in the South. Coal and iron have been found in abundance, and there are large deposits of zinc, lead and copper in some sections. All of the lead ores are rich in silver some of them yielding over $1,000 per ton. A new source of wealth has been discovered in the caves of the Boston mountains. These, known to the early settlers as bat caves, are in pure gypsum limestone formation. Some of them are miles in extent and contain millions of tons of nitrous earth. Nearly all the salt used in the manufacture of gunpowder in the Confederacy during the rebellion was made of material procured from these caves. It has been ascertained that this nitrous earth contains the elements of a valuable fertilizer similar to guano.

A RUNAWAY WIFE'S FAREWELL.—A married woman in Kansas, who recently eloped with a physician, left the following unique note for her husband:
"DEAR HUSBY—You're played out. I like Dr. — so well that I prefer going with him—you good for nothing, degenerated cuss. It's none of your business where we've gone to. It won't do you any good to follow us, for I wouldn't live another day with you to save your life. You made a mistake in thinking I loved you. I never did. I married you for convenience's sake. I take the baby along and I'll take care of it. You can sue for a divorce and get married as soon as you please. The woman who gets you will have a healthy old prize. Good-by. Be virtuous and you'll be happy. Your LATE WIFE."

GEN. BUTLER, who, when he practised in the criminal courts of Massachusetts was noted for his overbearing manner toward witnesses, caught a Tartar in his cross-examination of Col. Weigel, a witness in the investigation before the House Military Committee of Gen. Butler's management of the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Fund. In reply to an insinuation by Gen. Butler, the witness is said to have calmly remarked: "Gen. Butler, I have been drunk just as you have, and when drunk may have said things I do not remember—just as you have." Gen. Butler appealed to the Committee to be protected from insult, but received no satisfaction, he having been the aggressor.

A YOUNG Hoosier once said to a Hoosieress, "Sal, is there anybody courtin' you now?" And Sal replied, "Well Sam, there is one feller sorter courtin' and sorter not; but I reckon his more sorter not than sorter."

AN old, dilapidated bank note is going around with a piece of yellow paper pasted on the back of it, on which is written in a bold, free hand, "Go it Bill—I'll back you!"

THE blessed man that preached for us last Sunday," said Mrs. Partington, "has served the Lord for thirty years—first as a circus rider, and as a locust preacher, and last as an exhorter!"

FOR SEWING MACHINES.

THE Machine which bears his name has long been regarded as the standard of excellence, and has become celebrated the world over. The work done by these Machines is unsurpassed—sewing the thinnest muslin or the thickest cloth, with equal facility; and requiring no extra adjusting for uneven thickness or passing over seams; it makes its own hem as it sews, sewing a seam stronger than the fabric itself. To see it hem, felt, buck, braid, cord, quilt and gather. It seems more like a loom than a machine moved by the will of the operator. It is capable of doing any description of sewing that is required in a family, and also for seamstresses and dressmakers. It will be found highly reliable. They seldom or never give any trouble in operating, and in a word, are the

MOST SATISFACTORY SEWING MACHINES IN USE.

Notwithstanding their great superiority, they are sold at prices as low as other first-class Machines. A Medallion likeness of Mr. Howe is imbedded in the plates of every Howe Machine, without which none are genuine. Every purchaser of a Sewing Machine, should inquire for Elias Howe, Jr.'s Sewing Machines, And if they are not sold in their vicinity, address the General Agency for Illustrated Circulars, etc., and do not purchase until you have thoroughly investigated these renowned Machines.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK.

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," etc., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Indigestion, Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiating Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

"DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION." Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Ringworms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried off of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

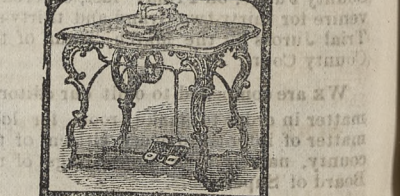

Cleanse the Vitiating Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.
